

BOY'S FATAL SHOT SET OFF DYNAMITE

TWO HUNDRED POUNDS OF IT EXPLODED.

Edward Latshaw and His Family
Hurled to Instant Death—Five
Killed and Three Injured—Accident
Occurs Near Dubuque, Iowa, and Results From a Boy's Carelessness

Dubuque, Iowa, Sept. 9.—One hundred and twenty-five pounds of dynamite was exploded yesterday morning at Specht's ferry, ten miles north of here, with a tremendous roar and shock, which was felt here like a trembling caused by an earthquake. Five persons were killed and three terribly injured at the scene of the explosion. The injured persons were brought to this city and taken to a hospital soon after the accident. The dead are:

BJORNSTAD, HANS, aged 35, of La Crosse, Wis.

LATSHAW, EDWARD, aged 35, of Victory, Wis.

LATSHAW, MRS. EDWARD.

LATSHAW, RAY, 12 years old.

LATSHAW, MATT, 6 years old.

The injured are:

Bench, Edward, aged 35, of Lansing, Iowa.

Faber, Matt, aged 35, of Wabasha, Minn.; will die.

Latshaw, Mabel, aged 15; will probably recover.

Edward Latshaw was a subcontractor engaged in quarrying stone on the Iowa side for the builders of the government wing dams on the Wisconsin shore.

Specht's Ferry consisted of the railroad depot and the temporary home of Latshaw's family, a long one-story shanty, about 250 yards south of the railroad depot. The twenty or more men employed by Latshaw were housed in tents on the hillside and fed in the temporary home of Latshaw's family.

In the extreme end of this shanty, probably 100 feet away from the living rooms of Mrs. Latshaw and the children, Latshaw kept his stock of dynamite, of which he used considerable in his quarrying operations. At times he had as much as 600 or 800 pounds, but his stock Saturday night had been reduced to eight boxes, containing twenty-five pounds each, or 200 pounds in all. He was exceedingly careful of the explosive, and would never allow anyone to enter the store room or handle it when needed but himself.

Yesterday morning after breakfast all of the family were gathered in the front room of the long shanty, except Ray, the eldest boy, who had recently been given a small rifle and had gone out to practice firing at a mark. He was within view of the family, and was shooting at a post below the other end of the shanty, where the dynamite was stored.

It is not known whether the boy accidentally fired into the dynamite or whether the concussion caused by his shooting exploded it. Several of the workmen were sitting on the hill watching him when the explosion came. A roar as of a thousand parks of artillery came with a shock that threw them flat on the ground, and the end of the shanty, where the dynamite was, was sent through the air, a shower of splintered and shattered timbers, that rose high in the clear sky, and then fell with the clatter of a dozen trains. The tents of the men were knocked flat by the tremendous concussion, and the depot was so severely racked by the same force that the clapboards fell from its weatherbeaten sides like falling leaves from a tree, while every pane of window glass was shattered to almost infinitesimal proportions.

The first sight that encountered the eyes of the men as they rushed into the shanty was the body of Mrs. Latshaw lying on the floor. She might have been asleep, from her appearance, which appeared as that it had stripped were no bruises on her face or body, and she had evidently been killed by the terrific concussion, the only sign of which appeared was that it had stripped her dress clear off and carried it to the top of a tree a hundred feet or more away.

Lying on her breast, imploring the dead woman to speak, was her child, Grace, 4 years old, who had, as if by a miracle, escaped harm. At her feet lay her daughter Mabel, unconscious and with her head badly congested by the awful force of the explosion.

Mr. Latshaw had been hurled fifty feet into the side of a clay bank, and he expired with a gasp as the rescuers lifted his head out of the clay in which they found him almost buried.

Matt Latshaw was blown into hundreds of pieces, and it was necessary to use shovels in recovering the fragments of the body, with which the railway found him almost buried.

Ray's body was found fifty feet up the hillside, while one leg was found on the hill top, fifty feet further up.

Hans Bjornstad lay dead fifty feet northwest of the shanty, and near him lay Matt Faber, dying, and Ed Bench, whose left eye had been torn from its socket. The tree-tops were laden with bedclothing, and the household utensils were blown into the river and on to the hillside.

News of the accident was telegraphed to Dubuque at once, and a train bearing Coroner Gregoire and a corps of physicians was dispatched to the scene.

The wounded people in the hospitals here are doing well. Mabel Latshaw is recovered sufficiently to talk. She says she thought her brother had shot her, and accounts for the accident by the belief that a bullet from his gun entered the dynamite storehouse.

The bodies of the dead were brought to Dubuque. Coroner Gregoire will hold an inquest to-day.

The bodies of the dead were brought at Plattville, Wis., ten miles away. A party of six up the river thought a steamboat had burst her boilers.

MORE TROOPS FOR CUBA.

Entire Spanish Army Will Soon Be on the Island.

Madrid, Sept. 9.—A third army corps of 20,000 is to be organized, ready to sail for Cuba in November in case of necessity. Official advices have been received from Cuba that the Spanish defeated the insurgents at Seboroual Friday. The insurgents had ten killed and the Spanish one. The Imparcial's Havana dispatch says that the troops under Gen. Oliveira defeated a strong band of insurgents at Sitio Grande after a hand-to-hand fight, in which fifteen insurgents were killed by machete wounds. At Guina Guavada the rebels surprised the city soldiers, who were out foraging. The latter beat off the insurgents, losing three of their number, while the insurgents lost six.

Senor Canovas del Castillo, the minister of foreign affairs, utters a denial of the representations made by the United States with reference to the language of the Spanish newspapers in regard to the Allinca incident.

Important Pension Ruling.

Washington, Sept. 9.—The pension appeal of John Godfrey has been rejected by Secretary Reynolds. Godfrey served in Company F, Third Kansas volunteers, which was called into service by the governor of the state. The secretary holds that no person other than the President of the United States has the authority to call the militia of any state into the United States service, and a militia organization called into service by any other authority is not thereby in the service of the United States for pensionable purposes.

For Judge Jackson's Seat.

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 9.—The fact has developed here that the friends of United States Senator J. Z. George will urge President Cleveland to appoint him to the vacancy on the supreme bench caused by the death of Judge Howell E. Jackson. Senator George will not serve in the senate again after his present term expires, having declined a re-election. Senator George served eight years as chief justice of the Mississippi supreme court before he was elected to the senate.

Two Thousand Deaths Daily.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 9.—A Vladivostok dispatch to the Nove Vremya says that cholera is raging in China and that 2,000 deaths occur daily in Peking.

THIRTY-FOUR HURT IN A KANSAS CRASH

TRAIN GOES THROUGH A RAIL-ROAD BRIDGE.

Every Person on Board Was Hurt, Some Seriously, but No Deaths Have Occurred—Accident Caused by the Breaking of a Journal Under One of the Cars.

Fort Scott, Kan., Sept. 9.—There were thirty-four persons on the Kansas City, Fort Scott & Memphis passenger train that went through a bridge into a flooded stream near Monmouth Saturday night. Miraculously no one was killed outright, but none escaped injury, and some are probably fatally injured. The most seriously injured are:

Major E. J. Crandall of St. Louis, manager of the Missouri and Kansas Coal company; one rib broken, forehead cut, and leg wrenched.

Mrs. Longford, Weir City; injured internally.

Robert B. Cooke, Cherryvale; back and leg sprained.

Ed. Rogers, Atchison, Kan.; cut on head and arms.

John Gass, McCune, Kan.; cut on forehead.

Ferry Bothin, ex-Populist candidate for congress; bruised leg and arm.

W. F. Hammer, traveling for Goodrich & Steel, Kansas City; right arm broken.

W. M. Parks, postal clerk, Cherryvale; arm lacerated.

C. O. Cooke, McCune; scalp wound, and arm cut.

Henry Belford, Pittsburg, Kan.; arm wrenched.

Mrs. Reynolds, Cherryvale; internal injuries.

Mrs. Betsford and daughter, Cherryvale; lacerated cheeks and bodies bruised.

M. L. B. Vay, Parsons; wrenched legs.

Mrs. Stewart, McCune; arm broken and shoulder dislocated.

R. S. Moore, Webb City; body bruised and probably internally injured.

A. R. Harper, Monmouth, Kan.; shoulder bruised.

John Clegg, McCune, Kan.; head cut.

Rev. L. B. Bramhall, McCune; severely bruised and almost drowned.

Miss Lizzie Bradley, Cherokee; hip dislocated and arm lacerated.

Miss Letta Green, Coffeyville; head and chest lacerated.

A. R. Walker, Monmouth; shoulder and back injured.

Will Pettis, Cherokee; face and hands lacerated.

Mrs. Burns, Monmouth; ankle and shoulder injured, and scalp wounds.

C. O. Everts, express messenger, Cherryvale; head bruised.

George Emerson, conductor; head and leg cut.

The train was made up of passenger coaches and a baggage and mail car. It was pulling out of Monmouth at a rate of about twenty-five miles an hour. A half mile from the bridge a journal in the rear of the engine broke, letting down and impairing the air brake appliance to such an extent that it was useless. The track is on an incline, and the ninety-foot trestle across Lightning Creek is on a curve. Upon striking the trestle the baggage car and smoker left the track and struck the superstructure of the bridge with such force as to throw it from the abutments, and it went down, twisting the immense steel stringers and breaking them as if they were straw.

The stream was flooded by the heavy rain and water, and was ten feet deep in the ditch where the rear coach fell. It was almost completely upset, and the twenty-six occupants were thrown promiscuously about. The water surged in at the windows and doors of the car. Every passenger was thoroughly soaked, and some barely escaped drowning. The men climbed to the high end of the car, and from there rescued the frantic women, some of whom had been painfully injured.

The occupants of the smoker had a worse experience. Their coach was completely upset in deeper water at the edge of the stream. One end was crushed into splinters, and the stove and seats were precipitated to the front of the car. There being but six or eight persons in the car, the less seriously injured succeeded in rescuing the maimed. It was in the front end of this car that Manager Crandall of St. Louis was found. His eye struck one of the cloak hooks. The baggage car was left standing in a perpendicular position in the center of the river, supported by the wrecked bridge. The engine passed over, but the tender was caught and stood on the top of the baggage car.

The injured were taken to Monmouth, McCune and Cherokee, and from there to hospitals. Trains are running.

Blue and Gray Day for Atlanta.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 9.—Adjutant-General Moorman, by order of Gen. Morden, commanding the United States Confederate veterans, has issued a general order announcing that the executive committee of the Cotton States and International exposition of Atlanta has set apart Sept. 21 as Blue and Gray day and all ex-Confederate veterans are cordially invited to be present on that day.

Powers Are Not Satisfied.

Constantinople, Sept. 9.—The Dragomans of the British, French and Russian embassies have received the decision of the Porte with reference to Armenia. It is not believed that the concessions will satisfy the powers.

Walter Regularly Convicted.

Paris, Sept. 9.—The Ecro de Paris says that ex-Consul Walter was convicted in the regular form, and the clamoring of his friends will only retard his pardon.

THEY GIVE UP HOPE OF SAVING MINERS

NO TIDINGS FROM ENTOMBED HOUGHTON MINERS.

The Fire Is Still Burning Fiercely, and Rescuing Parties Are Compelled to Leave Their Work—Corrected List of the Unfortunates Who Are Now Penned in a Fire Pit.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 9.—No one has been able to reach the twenty-eight or thirty-three imprisoned miners in shaft No. 3 of the burning Osceola mine, and when they are reached there is little hope of any of them being found alive, as they have been imprisoned in the burning shaft over thirty-five hours, and are all probably dead by this time, being cut off, with no means of escape.

Captain Trenbath, of the mine, who went down the shaft with a hose to the miners' rescue, was caught with the rest and perished, as he was unable to come up. A father of one of the drill boys, who went down to the rescue of his son, also perished with the rest.

Following is a correct list of the miners who are known to be in the mine:

JOSEPH SLAUGHTER.

RICHARD GRENFE.

THOMAS CURTIS.

STEVE RESTANAY.

PETER STIANGO.

JAMES HARRINGTON.

Huge volumes of smoke are still issuing forth from the mouths of shafts Nos. 1, 2, and 3, which shows that the awful fire is still raging fiercely.

Captain P. Richards, with a gang of seven men, went down shaft No. 5 last evening and went about 700 feet toward shaft No. 4, when they had to turn and flee for their lives on account of the smoke and gas. Some of these men were very nearly overcome, only reaching the surface in time to save their lives.

The place where the fire caught was the worst in the whole mine, and the only place where fire, to any extent, could have caught.

Many of the men that were working several levels below the twenty-seventh, where the fire caught, were seen as far up as the eighteenth level, working their way up. Several of the men who escaped claim to have passed others on the ladders that were unable to proceed further on account of being overcome with smoke and gas. One miner over 50 years of age picked up a young man who was overcome by the gas and succeeded in carrying him from 200 to 300 feet, when he felt his strength giving out and he had to drop the young fellow to barely reach the surface alive himself.

At the time the alarm was sounded over 200 were underground, and all could have escaped had they used proper precaution. Several miners in their flight passed a group of seven or eight men who had stopped to rest and were smoking their pipes. They seemed to be in no hurry or to think of danger. When told to hurry to the surface they remarked that they had plenty of time, and not one of them reached the top. The skips were kept running up and down all day Sunday in order to give any of the entombed miners a chance to escape if they could reach the skips alive, but none came up.

Another attempt will be made to reach the men to-day. There is no danger of the bodies being burned, as it is generally thought the men escaped from the burning shaft to some of the drifts leading to other shafts, and were overcome by gas and smoke before they could reach a place of safety. This being the case, the bodies will be recovered as soon as the fire is gotten under control and the gases leave the mine.

The shaft was surrounded all day yesterday by thousands of people, all hoping that some sign or word would be gotten from the men, but they have now all returned to their homes, fearing the worst. All hope has been given up.

Ohio County Treasurer Short.

Ironton, Ohio, Sept. 9.—A shortage of $18,000 has been discovered in the accounts of County Treasurer M. G. Clay. The treasurer admits the shortage, but claims $2,000 of the amount was lost by failure of the Merchants' bank several years ago. He has assigned all his property for the benefit of his bondsmen, but the amount will not cover the delinquency. Thus far no legal action has been taken against him. Expert accountants will be put in charge of the treasury.

Hog Cholera in Illinois.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 9.—Hog cholera in a very severe form has appeared in Condit township and hogs in large numbers are being carried off, resulting in great financial loss to stock raisers. One farmer has lost already 150 fine stock hogs.

GATHER AT LOUISVILLE.

Southern City Cordially Welcomes G. A. R. Veterans.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 9.—When Commander Thomas G. Lawler crossed the Ohio river this morning and set foot on Kentucky soil he found Louisville smothered in bunting and as much enthusiasm over the old flag as he ever saw in any Northern city. The Grand Army has never had more complete arrangements made for its entertainment than this year by the Kentuckians. There is scarcely a business house or a building in the business district that is not covered with flags and bunting. Across the space between the courthouse and the city hall is the largest flag in the world, so labeled, and as it is sixty-six feet long and forty feet wide the Kentuckians may well call it so.

While the veterans will find nothing but the flag and the red, white, and blue and all the decorations, they will not forget the gray, for they will wear badges made of metal blended from two cannon, one used by the union and the other by the confederate army. All the official badges will be made from this metal, representing the new union, and from each bit of bronze will be suspended a strip of ribbon, one-half of it blue and the other gray, representing again the blending of the colors worn by the two armies. The government furnished the cannon for these badges and they will be unique souvenirs of the first encampment in the South.

Commander Lawler was met at the depot by a special escort of the Louisville G. A. R. posts. His headquarters are at the Galt house, as are the headquarters of the Illinois department and of the Columbia post of Chicago, which is to act as the commander's escort. Illinois will be third in the number of veterans at the encampment.

The confederate veterans are here in force. The comrades hunt up members of their old regiments and brigades, and then meet confederates belonging to regiments and brigades that opposed them, when they confer about how things went on both sides, and have such reunions as have not been seen since the service of over thirty years ago. The committee on escort estimates that there are 10,000 visitors here.

Strike is inevitable.

Operators and Miners of Pennsylvania Ready for a Struggle.

Uniontown, Pa., Sept. 9.—The situation throughout the coke regions is one of uncertainty, caused by the possibility of a general strike this week. At the delegate convention held last Thursday in Connellsville a demand was made for an advance in wages of 11 per cent, with an order for a suspension of work in case the operators refuse to grant the demand. Reports from the various plants are that secret meetings were held yesterday, but what action the cokers took cannot be learned, except in a few cases. At the meetings heard from the men favored an advance and instructed the delegates to the convention to insist on the increase. A representative of a leading company said yesterday that the operators would not grant an advance. The labor leaders insist that coke has advanced from 85 cents to $1.35 a ton, and the men's wages should be advanced proportionately. They further aver that a strike is inevitable, unless the wages are advanced this week.

Indians are angry.

Serious Trouble Threatened on a South Dakota Reservation.

Chamberlain, S. D., Sept. 9.—The Sioux on Rosebud agency, under the leadership of Hollow Horn Bear, a powerful and influential chief, have warned Indian Agent Wright and his employees to vacate the agency within twenty-one days. They threaten to burn the agency buildings. A determination on the part of the agency to reduce rates paid to Indians for hauling freight from Valentine, Neb., to the agency from 50 cents to 25 cents a hundred is the cause. The Indians took mortal offense and runners sent to distant camps brought to the agency about 3,000 angry and excited redskins. Crow Dog, the slayer of Spotted Tail, has been lodged in the agency jail for the part he took in the present difficulty. Information from Valentine states that settlers adjacent to the reservation are becoming uneasy at the attitude of the Indians.

Alabama Democrats to Meet.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 9.—Col. S. W. John, a delegate from Alabama to the recent Washington silver conference, has issued a call for a state democratic silver convention to convene in Birmingham to-morrow. Its object is to carry out the suggestions and recommendations of the Washington conference that silver democrats organize inside the party to capture the party for silver in next year's campaign.

Exaggerated Reports of Cholera.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 9.—The steamship Tacoma arrived from the Orient, bringing 3,500 tons of cargo, including 3,000 tons of tea and 1,000 bales of silk. Her officers say the cholera scares from Japan are greatly exaggerated and that the scare there has not assumed the proportions indicated by some of the reports.

"The Ripper" at Work Again.

W. D. HASTINGS BORE AN HONORED NAME

ONE OF THE OLDEST IN ENGLISH HISTORY.

It Runs Back to the Time of the Danes—Notable Events Recalled by the Death of the Former Janesville Business Man and Well Known Preacher.

W. D. Hastings, who died in Carthage, Mo., Sept. 5, in his seventy-fifth year, bore one of the oldest names known. In conspicuous lines it runs through American, English and Danish history. It signifies haste, impetuosity, and was conferred, doubtless, in consequence of those characteristics being prominently manifested in battle. In 1634 Thomas Hastings, great grandson of the Earl of Huntingdon, the third Lord Hastings, having become a Puritan in England, fled to this country to avoid religious persecution, joined the Massachusetts Bay colony, settled at Watertown, Massachusetts, and, in 1665 there died.

From this ancestor, in the sixth generation, William D. Hastings was descended. At Watertown, Waltham, Boston, Warwick and Northfield, Massachusetts, and at Janesville, Kearney, Nebraska, and at Carthage, Missouri, these six generations of Hastings have lived. There is in the possession of the family of William D. Hastings, in the bold handwriting of John Hancock, a military pass, which he signed as president, bearing the date May 27, 1777, issued to Samuel Hastings, who was of the third generation of the family in this country, and the grandfather of William D. Hastings, which was given him as bearer of important dispatches from the revolutionary authorities at Boston to General Washington, who, at that time, was near Philadelphia. William D. Hastings was born at Warwick, Massachusetts, December 28th 1820. He was educated in the public schools of his native town and in the academy at Northfield, at Hardwick and at Deerfield in the same state. His love of knowledge was intense; and his application to reading and study so constant, that, at eighteen years of age, when he was prepared to enter college, his health failed. This event changed the whole current of his life; and the loss of a collegiate course created in his nature a wall of disappointment, that, in this world was never silenced. He always insisted that, to have physically perished at the fountains of knowledge would have been far preferable to life afflicted with an unsatisfied thirst.

With the exception of a few months in a mercantile house in Boston the next ten years were spent in outdoor labor, principally farm labor, in search of health; but all his leisure hours were devoted to reading, reflection and study. Farmers, he always maintained, have more spare time for reading than any other class of laborers and ought to be the best educated. At twenty-eight in partnership with his brother George, he became a merchant at Northfield, Mass. Later they separated and each went into business on his own account; and from that time to his death, as merchant, miller and manufacturer, he has been connected with active business. In 1856, when the republican party came into power, in Massachusetts, he was elected a member of the legislature of the state. For many years he was postmaster at Northfield and assistant assessor of that district; both which positions he resigned when he contemplated moving to Wisconsin. In 1866 he sold his business in Northfield and moved to Janesville and purchased the Monterey flour mill. After two years he sold that property and purchased an interest in the Monterey Woolen Manufacturing Company, and was elected secretary and treasurer of the company which position he held for many years. During the periods of depression in the woolen business, when in 1870 the dam was washed out, during a long period of litigation with Tappan, and Newell, and Cobb, and for the adjustment of titles to the Monterey water power, the members of that company were largely indebted to the tenacity, industry and tact often costs more to prepare a house for repainting that has been painted in the first place with cheap ready-mixed paints, than it would to have painted it twice with strictly pure white lead, ground in pure linseed oil.

with which William D. Hastings protected and maintained their interests. His constitutional habit of mind led him to the constant study of philosophy and theology.

When not engaged in business, abstract thought upon the verities of life was his normal state, so that his light in the subjective became fully as real to him as in the objective world. The grand thoughts of good men were his constant companions. But no one of the systems of religion satisfied his mind and his heart, until he became acquainted with the life and teachings of Emanuel Swedenborg. The works of this inspired man came to him like a revelation from heaven. They made the bible luminous with instruction, and gave to its pages a spiritual significance and power never before realized. Of the doctrines of the New church he was for many years a devoted student, and there he found rest. He joined the Janesville society of the New Jerusalem Sept. 10, 1871, and when the society lost its pastor, the Rev. Cyrus Scammon, he was at its request, and under the authority of the Illinois Association made its leader. And at the further request of the society on the 5th of October, 1875, at Henry, Ill., he was ordained a priest and a minister of the church. From that time, in addition to his secular duties which demanded the full measure of his strength, his sermons being written during hours which should have been given to sleep, he continued to minister to the little flock at Janesville, until, from overwork, his health failed, and with a sorrowful heart, he was compelled to relinquish a labor which had obtained a lasting hold upon his affections.

During the last dozen years of his life he was a devoted student of theosophy and metaphysics generally. In their doctrine of a great universal brotherhood of man he found strength and consolation. His domestic relations were always exceptionally happy, and his love for his wife and children unbounded. The loss of his wife, June 28, 1891, was a sorrow from which he never recovered. He claimed that at his real self left this world with her, and that only his shadow remained behind. Thus with an unwavering trust in the beneficence of divine providence, and in the enjoyment of a spiritual experiences closely allied to the angels, he joyfully approached the great change, which to him was only the putting off of the outer world and entering upon the inner, to new fields of labor and activity. To all who came within the circle of his influence his life was a benediction and his translation one of great peace.

MARVIN HAYNER GOT A HARD FALL

The Town of Rock Farmer Was Painfully Injured on Saturday.

Marvin Hayner, one of the old residents of Rock county, was thrown from a load of tobacco Saturday afternoon when the wheel of the wagon sank into a depression in the ground. Mr. Hayner's lower lip was cut and he was severely bruised about the head and shoulders and was delirious when L. W. H. Judd arrived to dress his injuries. Mr. Hayner resides in the town of Rock.

PROBING THE ALLEGED BANK JOB

Boone County Ill., Authorities Will Try to Indict LaPoint and Others.

Sheriff Smith of Boone County, Ill., was in Beloit Saturday summoning witnesses for the appearance before the grand jury of William LaPoint and the others charged with attempting to rob the Poplar Grove bank a short time ago. LaPoint is the man who is said to have hired the team that was used in the expedition. The arrests were made by Sheriff Appleby of this city and Marshal Appleby of Beloit.

CRAZY MAN ATTEMPTS ROBBERY

Albert Daverkosen, Late of Mendota, Tried to Hold Up Miss Peters.

STODDARD NOT SAFE IN HIS OLD HOME

DIVORCE SUIT AROUSES GREAT EXCITEMENT.

Local Journalists, Without Waiting To Learn the Facts in the Case, Declare That Mrs. Stoddard Must Have Been Cruelly Wronged by the Courts.

An injured husband seems entitled to no consideration. That is the inference from Chippewa Falls comment on the Stoddard divorce case. Despite the fact that Mrs. Stoddard admitted her fault, people in Chippewa Falls, where Mr. and Mrs. Stoddard used to live declare she is innocent, and the Daily Herald says: "An earthquake could hardly have shocked the city today more thoroughly than did the report contained in the Milwaukee Sentinel and several Minneapolis papers concerning a divorce granted W. H. Stoddard at Janesville yesterday, from his wife, Jennie C. Stoddard. There was no indication of such an event transpiring and the news came like a lightning flash from a clear sky. The editions of the papers containing the news were bought up before the carrier boys had time to reach the streets with them and anxious eyes scanned the columns in search of additional information in regard to the affair."

Says There is a Mistake. There is hardly a man, woman or child in the city who knows Mrs. Stoddard who does not extend the warmest sympathy. No one believes that she has erred and those who know her best say there must be some cruel mistake and others are even more emphatic in their denunciation of the plaintiff's action. The wires have been used extensively between here and Janesville, and a number of telegrams have been sent to Mrs. Stoddard assuring her of the continued friendship of the senders. A telegram from Janesville received at noon stated that Mrs. Stoddard could not be found and some think she may be on her way to this city. Wherever she has gone it is certain she has the sympathy of the people here with her and it is needless to say her late husband has not.

Not Safe For Mr. Stoddard.

"Indeed, to judge by the tenor of the remarks heard on every corner of the street this afternoon, it would be a rather risky undertaking for Mr. Stoddard to set foot on Chippewa Falls soil any time within the next twenty-four hours."

"The feeling against him seems to run high and whether it is justified or not the future alone will reveal."

"This afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Whitmore telegraphed Mrs. Stoddard to come immediately to Chippewa Falls and make her residence with them and Mr. Squires sent a similar dispatch. The lady will no doubt be cheered when she receives the score of messages forwarded to her, which as a rule do not half express the feelings of the senders."

The injustice done to Mr. Stoddard by such comment will be recognized at once by those familiar with the facts in the case.

Jack the Giant Killer

Was not a more persistent foe of the huge ogres he demolished than the great national tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is to all manner of all disagreeable symptoms caused by indigestion, constipation or biliousness. Heartburn, sick headache, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, yellowness of the skin, nausea, fur upon the tongue, are manifestations always removable by the Bitters. Thoroughness, promptitude characterize its remedial work. As a safeguard against malaria it has achieved a world wide reputation, the foundation of which was laid forty years ago. Physicians speak of it in the highest terms. Its efficacy in rheumatism and kidney trouble is well ascertained. Appetite improves, sleep, weary brains and overwrought nerves when it is used. It is suited to the most delicate and fastidious of invalids. It fully merits a fair and continuous trial.

BRIEF BITS OF LOCAL.

Goods, you never saw anything like the buggies and vehicles of all kinds we are receiving these days for our exhibit at the Fair. We intend our show to be the best ever put on exhibition in the state. Come down to our repository and see just a few buggies we are going to have at the Fair. F. A. Taylor.

MOTHERS, if you would have your children the best appearing when school opens one week from today, you should not miss our special children's fall suit sale this week. We have the best and prettiest line of fall suits for boys that our store ever held. Large stock to select from. Frank H. Baack.

Your taste as to buying a buggy may never have been cultivated, but if you will allow us, we will educate it in the proper way. We have right now, at our repository more good things in buggies than you ever saw, beauties of all kinds. Prices we guarantee to be way below the surface. F. A. Taylor.

We will have an exhibit of the famous Henney's at the fair that will make your mouth water for a new buggy. Where could we find a better make to talk about and show to the masses than the Henney, look the world over; none equal it. F. A. Taylor.

Last spring we sold a great many children's suits. Our store is known to be the headquarters for boys' suits, this fall we intend selling more than ever, we have the stock and there is no reason why at special prices we shouldn't. Frank H. Baack.

OUR great trade in children's school shoes Saturday shows that people know where to see something that wear the children for some time, and you don't have to go clear to the bottom of your pocket either. Lloyd & Son.

It's a good idea to look around the city pretty thoroughly before buying a suit for the boys, and after you have seen them all come to us, we will show you more of a variety than anywhere you have gone. Frank H. Baack.

Don't forget that the gross of buckboards we bought are all to be given away with boys' suits. They are a very popular toy. We used many of them during the past summer, and this week will clean many of them out. Frank H. Baack.

Just received, a large invoice of ladies' fine shoes and children's school shoes. Come in and look at them; we want to see you. Lloyd & Son.

Go to F. F. Pierson for bicycle and sewing machine repairing.

New line of banquet lamps just received at Wheelock's.

Sunday School Convention.

An enthusiastic company of Sunday school workers filled the Grange hall at Barker's corners yesterday afternoon. There were good reports by delegates present from the adjoining schools. Inspiring songs and encouraging addresses were the order of exercises. September 15 a convention will be held in the Disciple church of Center morning and afternoon. All the schools and Sunday school workers within reach are cordially invited and urged to attend.

Why We Can Sell Them Cheap.

Those famous Marzluft shoes can be sold cheaper by us than you can buy shoes elsewhere for the simple reason that we do a strictly cash business, we are satisfied with small margins and can afford to sell cheaper than other people. We will guarantee to save you money on Marzluft shoes. Lowell's Annex.

THERE is no doubt, no failure when you take DeWitt's Colic & Cholera Cure. It is pleasant, cures promptly. No bad after effects. C. D. Stevens.

Jack Frost is Almost Due.

Don't forget that the cold chilly blasts will soon be on us and wise housekeepers should fortify themselves against the elements. Get your furnaces and stoves in order for cold weather. We are agents for Gilt Edge furnaces, Garland stoves, Radiant House and many other strictly first class stoves and furnaces. Lowell Hardware Co.

Chamber Pails.

Five hundred nicely japanned chamber pails that retail at 40 cents. This number is more pails than we usually retail in the ordinary way during the year, but to make them move quick we will sell them for 20 cents each. They are genuine bargains. Lowell Hardware Co.

For Mothers.

That is, thorough mothers; bring in your children. We have a very pretty line of school caps and children's silk bonnets. All we wish is for you to look at the goods and then try to match the price at other stores. You are sure to come back. Lowell's Annex.

WHAT IS FREEDOM? ASKS A PREACHER

REV. VICTOR E. SOUTHWORTH QUESTIONS HIS PEOPLE.

Fifth Anniversary Celebrated by St. John's Lutheran Church—Rev. Mr. Wilder Urges Sunday School Attendance—Presiding Elder Pease in Rev. Dr. Halsey's Pulpit.

Rev. Victor E. Southworth preached on "Freedom" in All Souls church yesterday and said in substance:

The real freeman is the developed man. The great thing is to have a full life, a rich and radiant life, an enlightened life. It is only by becoming rational that a man is fit to be free. Edward Burke says: "Liberty must be limited in order to be possessed." Limited by what? Limited by a high moral sense. Limited by a clear-sighted intelligence. Limited by patience and friendliness. Limited by a spirit of sympathy. We ought to be free to voluntarily limit our freedom for the good of others.

Remember only the man who can control himself is free. Only the man with an enlightened mind is free. Only the man who can use his freedom wisely is free.

Freedom is serious, earnest, burdensome. Freedom demands obedience and service. Real freedom cannot be had by shirking responsibilities and evading duty. Free to think? No! A man is not free to think until by patient discipline he has acquired the power to think.

Work of the Endeavorers.

The Juniors of the Congregational church resumed their meetings yesterday and are to open this year's services with a reception to the church Tuesday evening of this week. Everything has been planned by the children and they are full of enthusiasm over their scheme. They are to show some pictures in the church parlors and also furnish music and light refreshments. Everyone is invited. The Christian Endeavor met at the usual hour and had an exceptionally good meeting. This society is preparing for a banquet for the reunion of all who have ever been members of the society, to be held soon. Toasts are to be given, letters of greeting from absent members read. A general revival in interest it is hoped will result.

The Baptist Endeavor Society enjoyed their meeting all the more last night, because it was held in the midst of the Harvest Festival decorations, most of them having been left up from the gathering of Friday evening. J. A. Skinner led the meeting, which was a very profitable one to all present.

Plea For Sunday School Work

In his sermon Sunday morning Rev. Mr. Wilder urged that people take places in the Sunday school. The Congregational choir still consists of two ladies, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Lewis.

Baptists and Congregationalists united at the Baptist church last evening.

Presiding Elder F. A. Pease preached at Court Street church Sunday morning.

At St. John's Lutheran church Sunday there were special services in honor of the fifth anniversary. The church was handsomely decorated and there was appropriate music.

HE NEEDS THEM JUST NOW.

Before Mr. Cleveland's term ends he will put the fourth class postmaster under civil service rules, it is said. It is safe to predict that this will not be done until a fourth nomination has been secured or the idea has been definitely abandoned. Fourth class postmasters are useful in building booms and nobody manages them more skillfully than Mr. Cleveland. One of his strong points politically is the way he makes office holders work. When in 1886 he said that "the influence of federal office holders should not be felt in the manipulation of political primary meetings and nominating conventions" he had not in mind to be again a candidate for the presidency. He was committed to a single term and had no expectation of seeking another. But when subsequently he made up his mind to seek re-nomination, the order regarding office holders in politics was ignored and democratic officials of every grade were as active in the primaries and conventions of 1888 as before the order was issued. The railway mail service was demoralized by replacing experienced clerks with democrats who could be useful at primaries and conventions, and as is well remembered all over the country democratic postmasters, revenue collectors and other officials were never more active in politics than in 1888, with the full approval of the leaders and the rank and file of the party.

Mr. Cleveland is a civil service reformer in off years only. The fourth class postmasters will be kept under his thumb just as long as they are useful.

GOLD STILL GOES OUT.

It is when financial sense is demanded that the administration shows its weakness. An early improvement in the financial situation has been promised by the treasury officials for half a year and over, but in the face of this the situation is still very bad. Gold exportation, which reached unusually large figures in August, made heavy drafts on the treasury reserve, which the bond syndicate promptly met at the time, and thus that fund was kept above the $100,000,000 minimum. It has now, however, dropped slightly below that line, for the first time in nearly two months, but as the syndicate is relied on to take care of the reserve until October no uneasiness is felt. In October grain exports, it is hoped, will alter the situation and reverse the gold movement. The deficit is decreasing, having been in August not much more than a third as great as it was in July, and September, it is expected, will see a further reduction in it. The insufficiency in the revenue and in the adverse trade balance make a gold shrinkage probable at any time. A little sound financial legislation will do more to bring improvement than all the catch-penny make-shifts that can be devised.

THE RACE ISSUE.

It is a confession of weakness that the democrats of Kentucky should inject the race question into the campaign. Their only hope now is the story that the republican candidate for governor had given assurances to the leaders among the colored people that in the event of his election, that race should be recognized in the distribution of patronage. Of course the statement is absolutely false, but denial of it goes for nothing with the men who feel the necessity of playing upon the prejudices of the people in order to avert defeat. The bugbear of negro domination will not save Kentucky democrats this year, however. The intelligence of the community plays too large a part in the campaign.

There will be an inspiring sight for A. B. men in Louisville—one of their comrades leading republicans to victory in the Blue Grass state.

Lord Dunraven may cut off the stern of his beautiful yacht and may paint her any color he likes. She is all his. But he should not take liberties with a beautiful name, in which he has no property right. When he puts the accent on the second syllable of Valkyrie and makes the "y" long he invites the wrath of the discriminating public.

The present governor and two ex-governors of Maryland, all democrats, are out in opposition to Senator Gorman and the state ticket he has placed in the field. They propose to make their protest count by supporting the republican ticket.

The bicycles are coming six hundred thousand strong, and more too. This fact is recognized in the platform adopted by the republicans of Pennsylvania: "We favor the adoption of a fixed and well-considered policy for the permanent betterment of our highways."

The English may not build boats fast enough to beat American craft on American waters but everybody admires their pluck in keeping up their attempt to recover the cup for forty four years.

The new woman is not losing many points when it comes to a legal decision. The question of her riding astride has been tested in New York and decided in her favor.

There would be millions of dollars for this country in a reciprocity treaty with Mexico and such a treaty will come as soon as the republican party is restored to power.

The treasury gold reserve is shrinking to an extent that is calculated to increase public interest in the chances of another bond syndicate.

Why Bala the Dark?

Buy a pretty decorated lamp for 90 cents or a banquet lamp for from $1.65 to 4.50. They are cheap in price of course. We aim to sell everything for little money, but we must advance those prices in a few days. They are too low. Lowell's Annex.

Not A Day

Passes that a dray laden with boxes does not back up to our doors. New arrivals all the time in crockery, glassware and many articles that are by far too enormous to mention. Lowell's Annex.

A shipment of twelve hundred fresh salt water clams arrived at Captain A. Buckholz' park this afternoon for the clam chowder picnic tomorrow. All those wishing a last days outing up the river had better take advantage of this. Dancing in evening. HAMMOCKS, a few left at Wheelock's.

Indian Scare in Oregon.

Burns, Ore., Sept. 9.—Bodies or armed men are leaving this town and vicinity daily for the Stein's Mountain country, evidently for hunting purposes, but the more knowing ones here think they are going for a different purpose, and unless the agents of the reservation recall them at once they will probably have fewer Indians to care for the coming winter. All the cartridges and ammunition have been bought up quietly, and the town is out of those articles. Developments may be expected soon.

Two Men Killed by a Train.

Cory, Ill., Sept. 9.—A buggy was struck at the station by the St. Paul limited at 8:35 last evening. Two men were killed. They were Louis Cox, of Nunda, and Charles Sweet, of Crystal Lake.

A CITY OF SLEEPING CARS.

How the Visiting Knights Templar Will Be Housed While in Boston.

One of the unique features of the Knights Templar Conclave in Boston this month will be a city of sleeping cars, the like of which has probably never before been seen in this country. It will be made a feature of the triennial, and some of the finest entertainments of the visiting knights will be offered at the settlement, which will hold forth in glory for a week. The Boston and Maine road evolved the idea when it gave an official announcement that track room for 500 sleeping cars would be provided on the old McLean Asylum grounds, a park-like expanse used by one of the best-known sanitariums for years, until it gave way to the encroachment of business and the managers sold out at a big price to the railroad corporation. Day by day the magnificent stretch of green dotted with fine old trees is giving way to lines of steel gridironed with sleepers, but the park is so large that even though the work goes rapidly on it will be many weeks before it is completed, and the 25th of this month, when the first contingent of knights reaches Boston, will find plenty of pleasant room left for the accommodation of the "sleeper visitors." Probably only breakfasts will be regularly served in this car city, but booths will be arranged so that if any one is hungry, or if sick ones find it necessary to remain there all day, no one shall suffer for want of food. Nowhere about the city can a cooler place be found than in the asylum grounds, and it is not unlikely that in the steaming dog days not a few of the visitors, especially ladies, will find it very desirable to wander about the shaded park rather than travel in the dusty and heated city. For that reason, if for no other, the committee of arrangements desires to make the place fully as attractive as the city breathing places. Some of the visiting commanderies will invite the fraters whom they wish to entertain to that place, and evenings there will be a scene rivaling the most famous of Parisian boulevards.

TRUTH AT A DISCOUNT.

He Wanted to Buy a Ticket, but Wanted Mendacity with It.

"I suppose," he began, as he entered a railroad ticket office—"I suppose you sell tickets to New York?"
"Certainly, sir," was the reply.
"You have a direct line?"
"We have, sir."
"Is it the only direct line?"
"It is."

"Is it down on the map as the only direct line?"
"As you see, sir," replied the agent, as he opened a folder.

"Y-e-s, I see. You land passengers in New York ahead of all competing lines, of course?"

"Of course."
"Luxurious coaches—no dust—finest dining cars—scenery unexcelled?"

"Yes, sir."
"By taking your line I avoid delays and reduce the chances of accident to the minimum?"

"Yes, sir, you do. Have a ticket to New York over our line, sir?"

"Can't say yet. I'm going to see five other agents, each with the shortest and most direct line, and if I can find a liar among the six I'll ticket over his road!"

Photographing the Baby.

"Good heavens," roared the policeman, springing up stairs three steps at a jump and dashing with uplifted truncheon into the photographer's studio, "what are you fighting about up here? Are you all in this row?"

Grandpa and Uncle John and Aunt Sarah and pa and me and Cousin Bessie and young Mr. Thinlegs, her young man and the two cousins from Birmingham and Uncle Charlie and grandma all looked kind of silly and were quiet, and the photographer said:

"Oh, that's all right, officer; there's no row; we're just trying to keep the baby quiet while we take its picture, bless it."

Exit policeman.

HOT WEATHER DYSPEPSIA.

Thousands Suffer From It at This Season of the Year.

Hot weather dyspepsia may be recognized by the following symptoms: Depression of spirits, heaviness and pain in the stomach after meals, loss of flesh and appetite, no desire for food, bad taste in the mouth, especially in the morning, wind in stomach and bowels, irritable disposition, nervous weakness, weariness, costiveness, headache, palpitation, heartburn. It is a mistake to treat such troubles with "tonics," "blood purifiers," "cathartics," "pills," because the whole trouble is in the stomach. It is indigestion or dyspepsia and nothing else.

All these symptoms rapidly disappear when the stomach is relieved, strengthened, and cleansed by Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They should be taken after meals and a few carried in the pocket to be used whenever any pain or distress is felt in the stomach. They are prepared only for stomach troubles.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are endorsed by such physicians as Dr. Harlandson, Dr. Jennison, and Dr. Mayer, because they contain the natural digestive acids and fruit essences which when taken into the stomach cause the prompt digestion of the food before it has time to ferment and sour, which is the cause of the mischief.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are pleasant to take and unequalled for invalids, children and every person afflicted with imperfect digestion. It is safe to say they will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

Nearly all druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages at 50 cents. A book on stomach troubles and thousands of testimonials sent free by addressing Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

GIRL'S AWFUL DEATH CAUSED BY A LAMP

BURNED TO DEATH WHILE CURLING HER HAIR.

Miss Ida Gruel Rushes From Her Room in City Attorney McElroy's Home, Wrapped in Flames, and Sinks on the Porch—Death Ends Her Agony.

In a pitiful, moaning heap Ida Gruel sat until she was fatally burned Sunday afternoon. She was on the porch of City Attorney McElroy's home on Madison street when Mrs. McElroy reached her and threw a rug over her. A. F. Spooner and C. A. Thompson ran up a moment later and joined in fighting the fire. When the last spark was quenched they bore the poor, blackened sufferer into Mrs. McElroy's room and there she lay until life went out.

Death came at 4:30 this morning after twelve hours of agony.

The man she would have married in a few months sat by her and saw the end approach, but her mother notified by telegraph at once, could not get here until eight this morning and was met at the depot by the words:

"Ida is dead."

The flames that caused Miss Gruel's death were from a kerosene lamp. She was curling her hair in her bed room on the second floor of the McElroy residence and had the lamp in one hand. She dropped it, it struck the edge of the bureau and broke. Oil splashed out and saturated Miss Gruel's clothing, and in a moment she was in flames.

Fled Down the Stairs. She clutched at the burning clothing and tried to tear it from her. That was hopeless, and without a moment's delay she dashed for the stairway. Down stairs she went, the flames wrapping about her more and more as her flight gave them a draught. She reached the side porch and there her courage failed. With a scream for help she dropped down in a formless, blazing heap, moaning with pain and seemingly unable to help herself.

Mrs. McElroy was by her side almost instantly, and was quick to act. She clutched a big rug and threw it about the girl pressing it closely to smother the flames. They had been almost conquered before Mr. Spooner and Mr. Thomson could run from the next house, although they lagged not a second. The three extinguished the last spark and carried the helpless girl into the house. She was laid on Mrs. McElroy's bed and Dr. Sutherland, who hurried up from his office, began the work of lessening her agony. Little more could be done, for there was hardly a shadow of hope for her recovery from the first.

Burns Found to be Deep

The clothing had been nearly all burned away, but where the charred fragments remained they could not be removed without taking away the skin. The finger nails and the skin on the hands peeled off. The face was marred very little but from the chin to the knees the body was burned shockingly. The abdominal cavity was burned into, and the upper part of the legs showed deep burns.

"The injuries about the legs alone would be sufficient to cause death," said Dr. Sutherland.

Soft, oiled bandages were placed over the burned surfaces. Then a wrapping of oiled cotton was put on and held in place by other bandages, affording all possible protection. But in spite of all there was the most intense suffering, suffering that was borne so bravely as to bring tears to the eyes of those in the room. The burns that caused the most pain were the minor ones about the back. Elsewhere the sense of feeling was numbed by the extent of the injury.

Said She Dropped the Lamp.

Miss Gruel was able to talk to those about her and said that the accident was caused by her dropping the lamp. She was most concerned about the fear that somebody would have to do her work. She came to Janesville from Watertown three years ago, being then but sixteen years old and went into the McElroy home at once. The family liked her very much and she became much attached to them.

"If I am not able to do all my work for a while you won't get another girl, will you?" she asked Mrs. McElroy anxiously. "I'll do all I can and in a little while I will be all right."

Her anxiety was made greater by the fact that she was soon to marry William Talbert, a C. & N. W. round house machinist. He was building a house and both were saving all the money possible to furnish it. Talbert was by her side during the night and their farewell was a heart breaking one after it was announced that death was near.

Sleep Eased Her Pain.

About 2 o'clock sedatives took effect on her and she fell asleep. She awoke about three but soon became unconscious and was unconscious until the end at 4:30. During the last half of the night she suffered but little. Dr. Sutherland and Rev. Mr. Wotton were with her all night.

Her mother and uncle came from Watertown on the accommodation. Her sister met them at the depot.

"Ida is dead," she said weeping and the three broke down and sobbed on one another's shoulder.

Mr. and Mrs. McElroy were deeply moved by the sad occurrence. They had taken a deep interest in the girl and she had come to look to them for advice and counsel.

The funeral will be held in Watertown. Mrs. Gruel and her brother will take the remains to that city this evening.

Leonard Gardner Bemis.

The shadow that had been hovering over the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orin W. Bemis for days closed down today when death bore away their three months old son, Leonard Gardner Bemis. The little one had been ill six weeks, and the end, which came at 8:30 was not unexpected, but to the parents the blow is a severe one as the very frailness of the little one had endeared him to them. Only members of the family will be present at the funeral which will be held at the home, 10 Wisconsin street at 2:30 tomorrow.

FAIR WILL BE WORTH SEEING

Exhibits Being Put in Place—All Will Be Ready Wednesday.

D. W. Watt was happy this afternoon.

"Biggest fair you ever saw," he said briefly. "Great machinery show; lots of stock; buildings lively already. Wednesday will be a corker."

A big exhibit of poultry was installed this afternoon.

Stand owners and privilege men are fast getting in shape.

Wednesday is the first day of the fair. Beloit folks and children will receive special attention and a red hot programme has been prepared.

FELL IN HIS STALL AND DIED.

William Ward Lost One of His Gray Truck Horses Last Night.

William Ward, of Milton avenue, lost one of his gray horses Sunday night. The horse had been nervous and fidgety, and Mr. Ward tried to sponge off its head and neck. It thrashed about in the stall until it fell, and the rupture of a blood vessel is thought to have resulted. Death came inside of an hour.

ROCK AND A KNIFE USED IN A FIGHT

BLOODY ENCOUNTER IN THE TOWN OF HARMONY.

Frank Beir Cut in Three Places and Vincennes Klecka May Carry a Stiff Knee in Consequence—Lawyers Stop a Gory Street Battle—Nick Loomis Punches Arthur Murray

Blood flowed freely when Vincennes Klecka and Frank Beir "mixed" near their homes in the town of Harmony Saturday afternoon.

Klecka says that Beir stabbed and cut him in three places on his left arm.

Beir claims Klecka pounded him with a jagged stone that weighed ten pounds.

Two cases in the municipal court are the result.

The two men reside on farms in the township mentioned. Saturday afternoon they had a vicious fight, the stories about the origin of which do not go together very nicely. But at any rate they fought. Beir says that he was cleaning his pipe with his knife when Klecka attacked him with the stone—a rough piece that much resembled iron ore—and inflicted injuries on his leg which may result in the permanent stiffening of the knee joint. He also says that Klecka pounded the side of his head with the stone and showed the marks inflicted by the rock to back up the assertion.

Beir also claims that when Klecka attacked him and got him down, he turned over on his stomach so that Klecka could not get at his features. Then He Used the Knife.

Then, Beir claims, Klecka began to beat him in such parts of his anatomy as he was able to reach. Beir claims that he stood this as long as he could, and then reached about behind his back with the knife he had been using to clean the pipe.

He said that he thrust out with the weapon and then raked it toward him. It was then that Klecka received the long gash in his left arm near the shoulder. But Klecka didn't quit. Instead he continued to beat a merry tattoo on Beir's body, so Beir reached out with the knife again. He caught Klecka's arm in another place the second time and on the third strike he laid Klecka's thumb open. At this stage of the battle, the fight was stopped and the gory fighters were cared for by friends.

This morning both arose bright and early, but stiff and defiant. Each hitched up the best team on the farm, and started for Janesville to get the other arrested. Beir got here first and the warrant was issued to him. Tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock Judge Phelps will hear the case. The above is Beir's story. Reverse it and you have Klecka's. Klecka says he will have Beir arrested as soon as the present case is ended.

Two Fighters Fined.

It cost Martin Anderson and Daniel McGinley $7.90 each to pummel each other before an audience of two hundred people on West Milwaukee street at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The two men live in the town of Janesville and had trouble over the alleged wrong doing of certain cattle. They met here and a fight followed. One man was down on the ground and the other was kicking him in the head when District Attorney Jackson came along. The district attorney took in the situation at a glance and jumped into the fray. Close behind the county prosecutor was Attorney C. C. Russell. Jackson grabbed McGinley and McGinley squirmed free. Then the district attorney turned loose his good right arm, and punched McGinley behind the ear. McGinley wavered. Anderson hit McGinley and Russell tackled Anderson. Then they wrestled. McGinley got several good hard kicks in the head. Anderson got several punches from various quarters. Jackson dislocated his collar button. Then Chief Acheson and Officer Hogan appeared. One took Anderson. The other took McGinley. The latter paid a penalty of $5 and costs or $7.90 for violating a city ordinance to prevent fighting, on Saturday afternoon. Anderson pleaded not guilty and was going to stand trial. This morning he changed his mind and pleaded guilty paying $5 and costs or $7.90 in all.

And the cows are still in the clover.

Fight Over Two Pears.

Nick Loomis, one of the Grecian gentlemen who preside over the fortunes of a fruit stand at E. W. Lowell's corner, punched Arthur Murray three times yesterday afternoon and each time Murray went half way across the street. Then the Greek ran away and hasn't been seen since. Chief Acheson was right on the spot and grabbed Murray, but Loomis was half way up the alley before Murray landed after the last blow. The trouble grew out of a disagreement as to what the price of two pears should be. Loomis insisted that they sold for a nickel, while Murray thought he ought to get three, the fight following the discussion. After locking Murray up, Chief Acheson started out to find Loomis, but the latter, however, had gone. His brother agreed to produce him as soon as he could locate the pugilistic member of the firm. It is thought that Loomis took the first train for Chicago. He will be arrested as soon as he returns while Murray will be taken into court as soon as City Attorney McElroy, who has sadder business on hand, can find time to draw the complaint.

ALDERMEN ORDER A STONE CRUSHER

HOSPITAL AID REGULATION TO COME UP TONIGHT.

It Will Get Its Final Reading and Be Ready For Passage, But It Is Said That the Idea Is Opposed—Uniform Charter Matter—The Callahan Damage Claim.

A stone crusher has been ordered for the city. The order was given by the highway and bridge committee after a meeting Saturday afternoon. The crusher chosen was the Austin which costs $800. A machine will be put in with the privilege of one year's trial.

The new hospital ordinance making it possible for the city to aid Oak Lawn hospital will come before the council for its third reading and perhaps for passage tonight. It is understood that the council is divided on the matter, some of the aldermen being against laying out any city money for that purpose, at present, at least. The ordinance in relation to the adoption of a part of the uniform charter will also come up, but only for its first reading. It is also said that the council may get a proposition or two from stone crusher manufacturers who wish to sell the city a machine. John Callahan, the man who was injured, as it is claimed, while working on the steam roller, will also have a certificate of his injury read to the council. It is also said that the council may either pay or reject tonight, the claim of Mrs. Springbaum for ten dollars, for the burning of her household goods after the diphtheria quarantine.

THE WELL OF LIFE.

What are drugs? Are they not specially

"IS IT NOTHING TO YOU?"

We were playing on the green together,
My sweetheart and I,
Oh, so heedless in the gay June weather,
When the word went forth that we must die.
Oh, so merrily the balls of amber
And of ivory tossed we to the sky
While the word went forth in the king's chamber
That we both must die.

Oh, so idly, straying through the pleasure,
Plucked we here and there
Fruit and bud, while in the royal presence
The king's son was casting from his hair
Glory of the wreathen gold that crowned it,
And ungirding all his garments fair,
Flinging by the jeweled clasp that bound it,
With his feet made bare.

Down the myrtled stairway of the palace,
Ashes on his head,
Came he through the rose and citron alleys
In rough sack of sackcloth habited
And in a hempen halter. Oh, we jested
Lightly, and we laughed as he was led
To the torture, while the bloom we breathed
Where the grapes grew red.

Oh, so sweet the birds when he was dying
Piped to her and me—
Is no room this glad June day for sighing—
He is dead, and she and I go free.
When the sun shall set on all our pleasure,
We will mourn him. What, so you decree
We are heartless? Nay, but in what measure
Do you more than we?

KING'S FUNERAL.

"This here which I'm mentionin'," said the old cattleman, "was the first funeral the town had had. Of course some of the boys had been downed one time another an gone shoutin home to heaven by various trails, but the remainders had been freighted east an west every time, an the camp got left. It was hard luck, but one day it came toward us, an that we were with a corpse all our'n, no partnership with nobody nor nuthin."

"It's the chance of our life," said the postmaster, "an we plays it. There's nuthin too rich for our blood, an those obsequies are goin to be spread eagle, you bet. We'll show Nutt an Rincon an sech hamlets they ain't sign camps compared with Deming."

"So we begins to draw in our belts an get a big ready. Jack King was the corpse, emergin out of a game of poker as such. He'd been peevish an irritable an pesterin an pervadin round for several days. The town stood a heap of trouble with him an tried to smooth it along by givin him his whisky an his way about as he wanted, hopin for a change. But man is only human, an when Jack started in one night to make a flush beat a tray full for $700 he asked too much."

"There warn't no undertakers, so we called the camp to order, an knowin he'd take pride in it, an do the slam up thing, we put in the postmaster to deal the game unanimous."

"Gentlemen," he said, "in assumin the present pressure I feel the compliments paid me in the selection. I shall act for the credit of the camp, an I need your help. I want these rites to be a howlin success. I don't want people comin around next week allowin there ain't been no funeral, an I don't reckon much they will. We've got the corpse, an if we fall flat now it's our fault."

"So we panted Jim Sweet an French Paul to go to the Santa Fe shops for a box for Jack an detailed a couple of niggers from the corral to dig a grave."

"An mind you alls," said the postmaster, "I wants that hole at least a mile from town. In order to make a funeral a success you need distance almost as much as a stiff. It gives the procession a chance to spread an show up. You couldn't make a funeral imposin an have it in your back yard."

"Everything went smooth right off the reel. We got a box an grave all ready, an the postmaster stuck up a notice on the depot door settin the hilarity for 3 o'clock the next day. Prompt at the drop of the hat the camp let go all bolts an turned loose in a body to put Jack through right. He was laid out in great shape in the New York store with nuthin to complain of if he'd been asked to make the kick himself. He'd a zew silk necktie, blue shirt an pearl buttons, trousers an boots. Some one, Whisky Sue, I think, had pasted some court plaster over the hole on his cheek bone where the bullet got in, an all around Jack looked better than I ever saw him."

"Let the meetin come to order," said the postmaster, sittin down on a box of boots up at Jack's head, "an, as many as can, please get something to sit on. Now, my friends," he continued, "thar ain't no need of my puttin on any frills or gettin in any scroll work. The object of this convention is plain an straight. Mr. King, here present, is dead. Deceased was a very headstrong person an persisted yesterday in entertainin views as to the value of a club flush, queen at the head, which resulted in life everlasting. Now, boys, this is a racket full of solemnity. We want nuthin but good words. Don't mind about the truth. Truth ain't in play at a funeral now. We all know Jack. We know his record—how he stole a hess at Rincon an robbed a man last fall at Fort Craig; how he downed a man at Cruces, an how that sear on his neck he got from Wells-Fargo's people when he stopped a stage near Tombstone, but we lays it all aside today. We don't copper nary bet. At 4 o'clock yesterday mornin, accompanied by a report of a Colt's 45, Mr. John King, who lies here so cool an easy, left the dance hall an entered in behind the white, shinin gates of pearl an gold which swing inward to glory eternal. It is a great setback at this time there ain't a sky pilot in the camp. It saws a big loss onto us, but we'll do our best. At a time like this I've heard that singin is a good, safe break, an I therefore call on that little gal from Lake Valley to give us 'The Dying Ranger.'"

"So the little Lake Valley gal cleared her valves with a drink an gives us the song, an when the entire congregation drew cards on the last verse it did everybody good.

"Far away from his dear old Texas
We laid him down to rest,
With his saddle for a pillow
An his gun across his breast.
"Then the postmaster got out a Testament. "Try goin to read a chapter out of this here Testament," he says. "I ain't makin no claim for it 'cause it's part of the game an accordin to Hoyle. If there was a preacher here, he'd do it, but there bein no sech on this range, I makes it as a forced play myself."

"So he read us a chapter about the sepulcher an Mary Magdalene an the resurrection, an everybody took it in mighty owly, for of course that was the lead to make an we knew it."

"Then the postmaster said he'd like to hear from any one under the head of good of the order."

"Mr. Undertaker and Chairman," says Jim Hamilton, "this thing weighs on me heavily. Of course as keeper of the dance hall I saw a heap of the corpse, an knew him well. Mister King was my friend, an while his moods were variable an unsent in it was clearly worth while to wear your gun while he hovered near, I loved him. He had weaknesses as do we all. A disposition to make new rules as he played along for these games of chance which enjoyed his notice was perhaps his greatest fault. His givin away to this habit yesterday was primarily the cause of his bein gathered to his fathers. I hope he'll get along thar an stand 'way up in G with them people up thar, an if a word from me could fix it I'd put it in. I would say further thar after consultin with Billy Burns, who keeps the other saloon, we have, in honor of the dead an to mark the occasion of his cashin in, agreed upon a business departure of interest to you all. This departure Mr. Burns will state."

"Mr. Postmaster," says Burns, "I knowed deceased. He was a good man an a dead game sport from 'way back. A protracted wrestle with the recklessly compounded drinks of the frontier had begun to tell on him, an for a year or so he was liable to have spells. That was all. Referrin to the remarks of Mr. Hamilton, I states that by agreement between us an in honor to the departed the price of whisky in this camp from now on will be two drinks for a quarter instead of one, as previous. We don't want to disturb values nor unsettle trade, an we don't believe this will. We makes it as a ray of light on the darkness an gloom of the hour."

"After these remarks, which was well received, we formed the procession. Two buglers from Fort Cummings took the lead, with Jack in one of the Silver City stagecoaches comin next. The pallbearers were on horses next in line, an the rest of the town strung along permissus on horseback an in wagons."

"This is a great day for Deming," says the postmaster as he rode up and down the line. "There ain't no camp outside on this side of Albuquerque could turn this trick. I only wish Jack could see it for himself. It's more calculated to bring this town into favorable notice than a lynchin."

"At the grave we turned in an gave three cheers for King and three for the postmaster, an last we gave three more an a tiger for the town. The buglers give us everything they knows, from the 'water call' to the 'retreat,' an while the niggers was a-shovelin in the sand we banged away with our six shooters for general effect quite delightful. You can gamble there ain't no funeral like it before or after. It was lovely."

"At last the postmaster pulls out of the stage we used for Jack a headboard. When it was set up, it looked like if Jack wasn't satisfied with that he'd be hard to suit. On it in big letters was:

JOHN KING.
Life ain't in holdin a good hand,
But playin a poor hand well.

"You see, we've got to work in a little sentiment," says the postmaster. "Then we detailed the two niggers to stand watch an watch every night till further orders. Of course we weren't afraid that Jack would get out, but the coyotes was shore to come an dig for him. So the niggers had to stand guard, 'cause we didn't allow to find hunks an scatterin's of Jack's round loose after all the trouble we took."—Alfred H. Lewis in Chicago Times-Herald.

Napoleon and America.

Whatever chagrin the Americans may have felt at the termination of their negotiations was compensated for largely by the magnificent way in which the signing of the treaty (of 1801) was celebrated. At Montefontaine, Joseph Bonaparte's home, a fete was given to the commissioners, at which the first consul himself was present. The dinner consisted of 180 covers laid on three tables in three halls communicating with each other. The first was called the Hall of Union; the second and third bore the names of Washington and Franklin. All three were decorated with appropriate symbols and legends.

After dinner the first toast, proposed by Bonaparte, was, "To the manes of the French and Americans who died on the field of battle for the independence of the new world." Cambaceres, second consul, proposed the next toast, "To the successor of Washington." The next was by Third Consul Lebrun, "To the union of America with the powers of the north to enforce respect for the liberty of the seas."

After the dinner the party walked in the park, where the prefect of Montefontaine presented Bonaparte with a quantity of Roman coin found in the neighborhood. Bonaparte completed his efforts at propitiation by giving them to Mr. Davis, saying: "These Roman medals, sir, have just been found in France. Accept and carry them with you to America, so that the monuments of the Roman republic may become pledges of amity and union between the republics of France and the United States."—McClure's Magazine.

Toasts.

In olden days our ancestors approved of using toasted bread with their drinks, and toast still floats in the loving cup, and also the cups called copas, bishop and cardinal at the universities. Hence the lady named or the sentiment proposed was the toast or savor of the wine which gave the draft piquancy.
